

FROM THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

THE AIMS OF THE REVOLUTION

OURS is a revolution against oppression - our own oppression and that of all people in the world. And it is a revolution for a better life, a better station for mankind, a surer harmony with the forces of life in the universe. We, therefore, see these as the aims of our revolution.

- TO free black people in America from oppression;
- TO support and wage the world revolution until all people everywhere are so free;
- TO build a new Society that is better than that we now know and as perfect as man can make it;
- TO assure all people in the New Society maximum opportunity and equal access to that maximum;
- TO promote industriousness, responsibility, scholarship, and service;
- TO create conditions in which freedom of religion abounds, and man's pursuit of God and/or the destiny, place, and purpose of man in the universe will be without hindrance;
- TO build a black independent nation where no sect or religious creed subverts or impedes the building of the New Society, the New State Government, or the achievement of the aims of the revolution as set forth in this Declaration;
- TO end exploitation of man by man or his environment;
- TO assure equality of rights for the sexes;
- TO end color and class discrimination, while not abolishing salubrious diversity, and to promote self-respect and mutual respect among all people in the society;
- TO protect and promote the personal dignity and integrity of the individual, and his natural rights;
- TO assure justice for all;
- TO place the major means of production and trade in the trust of the State to assure the benefits of this earth and man's genius and labor to society and all its members; and
- TO encourage and reward the individual for hard work and initiative and insight and devotion to the revolution.
